War News Summarized

Of actual fighting there is little, but the new troop dispositions in various quarters seem to indicate that great battles soon will be raging again. This is particularly true in the southeastern theatre, in Bukowina, where the Austrians have massed large forces in an endeavor to push back the Russians and in the Carpathian passes where the troops of the dual monarchy are reported by Petrograd to be showing activity.

Berlin notes a movement of Russians in considerable force to the north of Warsaw and the German military critics are in a quandry as to whether it means a maneuver in a new campaign in that district, where perviously all Russian attempts at an advance have been repulsed.

Nothing definite has been learned with regard to Germany's claim that the British lost a cruiser in the sea fight Sunday. Russia is said to have reinforced the Serb army with Cos: sacks and also to have sent considerable quantities of war supplies into the kingdom. Germany has seized all stocks of wheat in order to insure a supply of bread until the next harvest

The British Armored Merchant Steamer Kiknor has been sunk with all hand, off the Irish coast. The vesesl either foundered or struck a mine.

A Vienna newspaper declares the new Austro-Hungarian foreign minister has stated he will refuse territorial concessions to Italy and Roumania even if such refusals should be the cause of their entering the war on the side of the allies.

Doctor Robert Huntington breaks his engagement with Ann Morton, a nurse at the hospit: i, when the learns that the ill health of his cousin, Jeffrey, may bring him into possession of the Huntington estates. Ann nurses Jeffrey at the hospital and later marries him, though confessing that she loves another. Too late, Robert regrets having given up the girl and tries to win her back She repulses him. Doubly jealous now of his cousin, Robert schemes to put him out of the way. Ann's discovery of an old volume, "The Crimson Moth of the Hungingtons," suggests a grim expedient. "Whenever the Crimson Moth appears to a Huntington he is doomed," the tradition declares. Robert sees to it that a Crimson Moth appears to Jeffrey just when, having discovered Ann's past relations with his cousin, the last of the Huntington's is in a frame of mind calculated to receive full shock of supersition. But the treacherous ivy up which Robert has climbhurls him down to death, and the curse is lifted.

ADVOCATES COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

REAR-ADMIRAL KNIGHT AD-DRESSES EFFICIENCY CLUB.

Declares Existing Organization of Navy Department is Inadequate and Would Break Down Under the Strain of War.

New York, Jan. 25-The creation of a council of national defense, for which a bill already is before congress, and the establishment of a division of strategy and operations in the navy department were advocated by Rear-Admiral Austin M. Knight, president of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., in an address before the Efficiency Club of this city tonight.

"There can be no question that the existing organization of the navy department is inadequate and would break down fundet the strain of the rear-admiral said. "A navy has one excuse for existing and only one-that it should always be ready to strike on the minute and with every element of power concentrated behind its blow for the defense of the country.

"It is a singular fact that the organization of the navy department takes no account of this relation of the navy to war. War is one thing for which no arrangement is made. There are seven bureaus in the de partment, each with clearly defined duties, but in all the elaborate legislaion creating these bureaus and defining their duties, there is not a word about the duty of keeping the navy in readiness for war or preraring plans for war, or conducting war after it begins. There would be a cerain element of comedy in this if there were not so many elements of possible tragedy. "This is the last and great defect in the efficiency of the navy. could be remedied by the creation of a division of strategy and operations, preferably not co-equal with the present bureaus, but superior to chem and standing between them and the secretary. It would correspond more or less closely with the general staff of the army and the first Sea Lord of the British admiralty. I am not advocating a reorganization that would in any way reduce the authority of the secra

"The creation of this office would provide a policy for the navy insuring unity of effort and shaping plans toward the proper end of all our efforts-preparedness for war.

"We need a policy broader than our paval policy and including it. This must be a national policy, dealing with both the army and the navy and bringing Ithe broadest statesmanship as well as the highest knowledge to bear upon the question of national defense. Its enunciation must come from the highest authority in the land, executive and legislative.

This points to a counsel of nationa! defense, for the creation of which a bill is already before congress. In such a council, with the president of the United States at its head, we should have the last word in the co-ordination of national resources for national defense. There is much about the navy that is splendidly efficient. But as a whole it is far less efficient than it ought which is needed to give every element of it the support ti needs from their troops along the front. A absolutely essential facilities for

"I ask you to picture the effect graduating from the naval academy, full of spirit and enthusiasm, finds himself confronted with the prospect of promotion to the grade of lieutenant at the age of fifty-two years.' The policy of economy "first' Rear Admiral Knight said had been applied to naval expenditures. The program advocated by the general board, if it had been followed, he said, would have provided forty-seven battleships built and building in 1914, but it has not been followed and ithe country has thirty-seven battleships. He laid emphasis upon the necessity for auxiliaries such as fuel ships and scouts.

"A fleet without fuel ships is crippled and one without scouts is blind", he declared.

"To send a fleet thus blind and crippled into hostile waters would be to invite destruction."

HAS ALEXANDER FOUND THE SAME?

The Answer is Found in the Straightforward Statement of an Alexander Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Jacksonville citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder trou bles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of this medicine is to be found in our neighboring towns. This frank and earnest statement by a well-known and re- didate for the office of city comspected resident of Alexander will set this doubt at rest. J. Tankersley, coal dealer, Box 7 Alexander, says: "I cheerfully re commend Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney trouble. They have relieved AND PAGEANT. them after seeing what they had 9th.

Rev. W. E. Spoonts Makes Strong Pleas for Righteous Living-Large Audience Sunday and Monday.

The services at Northminster church Sunday were well attended and as usual of much interest. The singing by the choir was insparing and a solo "'Tis Jesus," by Prof. Beckman was well received.

The speaker took a very small stick and showed how easily it could be bent; then he took a larger and still larger one and finally a big stick which would hardly yield at all.

The sermon by Rev. W. E. Spoonts was from 'the text, "and there appeared cloven tongues as of fire and sat upon each one of them."

The discourse was on the subject of the great penecostal outpouring of the Holy Spirit and was a stirring plea to yield to the silent

At the close fourteen were received into the church, seven of whom were baptized. To date seventy have professed conversion and some these will unite with other churches.

In the evening the song service was much enjoyed. A special feature was a solo. "Oh eyes that are by Miss Carolyn Smith Prof. Beckman also sang a solo, 'My Father watches over me.
